Education

10/2020 - 11/2022

MSc

Science Communication

The University of Manchester - Manchester

- Throughout this course I honed skills that allowed me to effectively convey complex scientific subjects to a vast array of different audiences, and to do so in a number of creative ways.
- Merit award.
- GPA: Merit

09/2018 - 10/2019

MSc

Biomedical Sciences

Leeds Beckett University - Leeds

- The extensive analytical skills developed throughout this degree greatly aided my transition from the sciences into software engineering, as the analytical mindset and attention to detail required in the biomedical sciences lends to the methodical approach and mentality needed for software

Professional summary

A React developer looking for frontend development contracts such as website development or collaboration on web UI applications. As a highly disciplined individual with a predilection for problem solving and a keen eye for detail, I believe I am well equipped to take on, or collaborate on, a variety of frontend dev projects. I am goal orientated and well-adjusted to working to deadlines and under pressure. I crave the opportunity to continue to intellectually challenge myself. My previous projects, academic, and sporting achievements to date evidence my drive, and I apply such self-discipline and perfectionism to my career.
